PCAS exhibited at China Inter LUBRIC 2016

PCAS recently showcased its Lubricant & Protection additives at the Inter Lubric exhibition, which was held in Guangzhou (China) end of September 2016. As a leading supplier to the lubricant industry, this event has been a great opportunity to feature key new products, among them the new low odor and light color sulfurized additives and some anti-corrosion packages. PCAS is strongly committed to support its global customers in the Asia-Pacific region and to develop also specific products to meet local customers' needs.

It has been a chance to meet professionals of lubricant industries and to establish solid contacts in this part of the world experiencing strong economic growth.
